

NASHVILLE ARMY AIR CENTER (A.A.F.C.C.)
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Friday 4/5

Dear Mom, Ony, Cecil, Al, Grandma & Grandpa,

I'm writing to all of you together because I don't have time enough to write to each one individually. We are kept busy all day long, it is only because I'm on guard duty now that I have some time to write.

I passed all the exams, and received my qualification as navigator last night. Now, I have nothing more to do here but wait for shipping orders, & I hope that will be soon. Most of our squadron will be gone by the time this weekend is over & there will only be about 50 out of the 175 to be left behind. The rest of us will probably be shipped inside of another week.

In the meantime, we're kept on the go, although most of our time is spent changing clothes. We change clothes here more than in the classiest hotel. If we were in Florida, we would at least be in the correct atmosphere for it. We wear our regular uniform in the morning for reveille, after breakfast we change to our gym uniforms, then back to regular uniform, then to fatigues, then to Class B (dress) uniform, then to Class A (regular) uniform, etc.

I wanted to go to town tonight & take some pictures, but I got guard duty instead. I haven't been to town yet. We've had 5 open posts & on 3 of them I had a special detail, while on the other 2 it was pouring so hard that no one went. I may still get a chance to go next Wednesday.

The weather here is very cold again - winter weather. For about a week we had real warm summer & I thought it was here to stay, but today it got cold again.

Don't send me anything here anymore.

NASHVILLE ARMY AIR CENTER (A.A.F.C.C.)
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

I'll probably be leaving soon, & besides,
I have plenty of candy, cookies, etc. here
now. I have a job getting rid of it all.

I saw from the papers that the food situation in New York is pretty bad. It isn't so hot here either. The meals haven't been so good for the past couple of weeks.

Well, that's about all now, I'll write you again if I'm put on shipping orders within the next couple of days.

Regards to everyone.

Marty