1. The death of James SALLEY, Englishman, has been investigated as requested in reference (a) and reported herein.

2. All interviews were conducted in English by Lt-Comdr. C. D. ANDERSON, USNR.

3. SUMMARY OF CASE

James SALLEY, Englishman, was in fact Charlie SMITH born on the high seas to English sea captain and Portuguese wife. SMITH came to the Palau Islands when held by the Germans and was a trader in the Japanese period. He owned property on Babelthuap Island at Arimasa. SMITH, was married to a Guamanian woman, Rita SMITH, now living with their children on Saipan. SMITH was not known to have committed any acts of sabotage. He was interned by the Japanese Kempei at Gasupan on Babelthuap Island in December 1944. No one ever saw SMITH after being released by the Kempei who are believed to have killed him. There were no eyewitnesses to his death other than the Japanese who may have participated.

4. REPORT OF INTERVIEWS

INDALECIO RUDIM, interpreter for Military Government, Koror, was questioned and gave the following information:

James SALLEY, Englishman, whom he discussed when at ComMarianas the last of July, was really Charlie SMITH, Englishman. That he was held by the Japanese Kempei at their headquarters at Gasupan on Babelthuap in December 1944 at the same time as Wilhelm FEY, German Missionary was held. That he, INDALCICIO Rudim, had seen Charlie SMITH and FEY at the Kempei headquarters. That he believes that Charlie SMITH was killed by the Kempei. That SMITH was never seen again by him or his friends. In so far as he, INDALCICIO Rudim, knows there were no eyewitnesses to Charlie SMITH'S death other than the Japanese who participated.

Wilhelm FEY, German Missionary at Koror, was interviewed and stated as follows: That he, Wilhelm FEY, knew Charlie SMITH very well because he was interned for ten days with SMITH by the Japanese Kempei at their headquarters at Gasupan on Babelthuap Island in December 1944. That SMITH had lived in the Palaus about 40 years and was 70 years old in December 1944. SMITH'S father was an English sea captain and his mother

----- was Portuguese. That Charlie SMITH was born at sea and grew up in Honkong and because of this the Palau people thought SMITH'S mother was Chinese. That he had committed no acts of aggression against the Japanese. That he had been offered and had refused Japanese citizenship. That SMITH had traded in copra, shells and sea products with the Chinese, at first directly and later through the Japanese. That he, Wilhelm FEY, had obtained this information from talking to SMITH while they were interned together. That he, FEY and his wife Johana, were released after about ten days but that SMITH was not released. That perhaps the Kempei had led SMITH off and left, in the thick brush in the mountains without food where he would probably not be able to find a way out. That he had never seen SMITH since being released from internment nor had anyone else as far as he knows. That no one other than participating Japanese were eyewitnesses to his death or to his being left to die in the mountains.

Charlie GIBBONS, interpreter for Military Government, Koror, was interviewed and stated as follows: That Charlie SMITH and GIBBONS father had worked together for the American trader O'KEEFE. That he had heard his father say that SMITH'S father was English and his mother Chinese. That SMITH was about 70 years old in 1944. That he, GIBBONS, had heard that SMITH had been taken to the Japanese Kempei headquarters in Gasupan on Babelthup. That he, Charlie GIBBONS, nor any of his friends had ever seen SMITH after the time taken by the Kempei. That as far as he knew there were no eyewitnesses to SMITH'S death other than the Japanese Kempei whom he believes killed SMITH.

Tomas KAMACHU, Chamorro employee of USCC at Koror, was questioned and stated as follows: I knew Charlie SMITH very well because I worked for him many times. When SMITH first came to the Palaus he worked for Mr. O'KEEFE, an American trader. Later he traded on his own with a Chinese whom he knew in Honkong dealing in Copra, Trepang and other products. SMITH continued in business in the Japanese period but sold through the Nanyo Boeki (South Seas Commercial Company). SMITH owned property at several places on Babelthup his most important holding being at Ngarinasa (Arimasa) between Ngeremlengui and Ngertmau. SMITH married a Guamanian woman much younger than he and they had five or six children of which four are believed living. SMITH'S wife, Rita SMITH, and surviving children fled from Ngerhelong on Babelthup in December 1944 together with other Chamorro people. They went first to Kayangel Island then to Angaur and from there to Saipan. Mrs. SMITH and her children are now there on Saipan. SMITH always got along alright with the Japanese and as far as I know did nothing to make them dislike him. SMITH had been held at Ngertmau (Garasmau) for about two years during the war and lived with a native family. I was with him when he was taken away by the Japanese Kempei to their headquarters at Gasupan. His family were at Ngerhelong during these two years. I, being Chamorro, was ques-

I never saw SMITH again after he was taken by the Kempei but I heard he was killed. As far as I know there were no eyewitnesses to SMITH'S death other than the Japanese who participated.

Joseph TELEI, employee of Military Government, Koror, was questioned and stated that he had known Charlie SMITH. During the war while at Ngerhelong he, Joseph TELEI had escaped from Babelthuasap Island with a party of Chamorros including Rita SMITH, wife of Charlie SMITH, and her four children. TELEI stated that he had heard that SMITH had been taken by the Japanese Kempei to their headquarters at Gasupan. That he, TELEI, had never seen SMITH since that time

References: (a) ComMarianas dis. 140705 Feb.
(b) Cincpac/Poa conf. ltr., AL7-25, serial 07205 of 4 Sept. 1945.

1. Reference (a) requests compliance with a request from SCAP's International Prosecution Section concerning the taking of "depositions" relative to (a) date of construction of fortifications and military installations (by Japanese) prior to December (1941); (b) use of forced native labor (by Japanese) without adequate remuneration; and (c) denial (by Japanese) of equal rights to Americans on Yap. The "depositions" are desired for use as evidence before an international military tribunal.
2. Certain islands comprising the Caroline Islands, including Yap and the Palaus, were mandated to Japan as "C" mandates under Article 22 of the Covenant of the League of Nations as approved by the Council of the League. The terms of the "C" mandates prohibited, among other things, (1) forced labor "except for essential public works and then only for adequate remuneration" and (2) establishing any military or naval bases or erecting any fortifications in the mandated territory (Digest of International Law, Vol. 1, p.124, Hackworth).
3. By agreement between the United States and Japan the United States and its nationals were assured "free access to the Island of Yap on a footing of entire equality with Japan or any other nation" and their respective nationals in all that relates to the landing and operation of cables. Other rights relative to communications and treatment to be accorded United States nationals were assured (Hackworth, supra, p.126).
4. Accordingly, it is desired that persons likely to have knowledge concerning (a), (b) and (c) in paragraph 1 be interviewed. Statements of persons having knowledge relative to these matters should be taken in the manner provided by reference (b) and forwarded to Commander Marianas as soon as practicable.
